Algonquin Highlands will stick with mail-in paper ballots for the 2014 municipal election.

Councillors for the township made that call at their Oct. 17 meeting after receiving a report on voting methods from clerk Dawn Newhook.

The report assessed the pros and cons of mail-in voting, as well as voting by Internet and telephone.

While Internet voting would bring fast and accurate results on voting night, for example, there was concern for residents who are not tech-savvy.

The report also examined finances, with two estimates from companies that conduct Internet/telephone voting.

One was for approximately $21,000, the other just less than

However, Newhook told councillors the estimates didn't include supplies, advertising and other fees, which would amount to approximately $8,000, bringing the respective estimates to $29,000 and $26,750.

The 2010 municipal election, conducted using mail-in ballots, cost about $30,000.

Councillor Gord Henderson wondered if combining the methods - using mail-in ballots plus telephone and Internet - was an option.

Future of Gelert hall uncertain

What to do with the Gelert hall?

That was the question before Minden Hills councillors during their Oct. 10 committee-of-the-whole meeting. The hall has been closed since March of 2012 due to issues

The hall has been closed since March of 2012 due to issues with mould and bat guano. There are also issues with the septic system and a boil-water advisory is still in effect on the building.

According to a report from environmental and property operations manager Ivan Ingram, a full-scale remediation of the building – including mould remediation, foundation repairs, basement window replacement, drainage, well, septic and electrical work – would cost approximately $115,000.

Remediation work on the mould and guano would come with a price tag of more than $40,000 and demolition and removal of the building would cost approximately $28,000.

There is no money allocated in the budget for the work, with the building's reserves sitting at $28,000.

In September, the township issued on online survey on the future of the building, which drew 92 respondents.

The results of that survey showed the majority of respondents said they would rent the hall for private functions.

About 70 per cent said they'd like to see the hall saved in its current form and about 10 per cent supported demolition with no replacement.

About 30 per cent of respondents said they'd be interested in volunteering at the hall, while 60 per cent said they would not be willing to share the halls at Lochlin and Irondale if there was no hall in Gelert.

"I think they're open to a lot of things," Ingram said. "I think they want to find out what they're doing and move on. We need a decision on what we're going to do with the hall."

The issue is not a new one, with previous councils grappling with what to do with the aging facility, originally built as a schoolhouse.

Investing in large-scale renovation made Councillor Larry Clarke uncomfortable.

"I think to over-invest in one community would be at the cost of another," Clarke said, in reference to the township-owned halls in Lochlin and Gelert.

Chad Ingram Staff

The Gelert hall has been closed since March of 2012 due to the mould and bat guano.

Councillor Jean Neville who represents Ward 3, where the halls are located, sits on the advisory committees for all three centres.

All those halls have been supported historically by volunteer funds and volunteer work, Neville said.

While Minden Hills has given grants of a few thousand dollars to each of the halls, they are largely maintained by volunteers and paid for through fundraisers and memorial donations.

"We have a community centre here in Minden that is available to all the taxpayers," said Councillor Ken Redpath.

Redpath suggested picking one of the three halls, renovating it completely and demolishing the other two.

"Back in the horse-and-buggy days, there was a church on every corner, there was a general store on every corner," he said.

Councillor Brigitte Gall thought that comparing the Minden Hills Community Centre to the halls was a stretch.

"Those community halls are just used differently," she said, adding the buildings are often used for events such as dinners, with crowds smaller than would make sense to rent the community centre before.

Clarke suggested Minden Hills apply for a Trillium grant and any other appropriate funding sources for the renovations at the hall

Reeve Barb Reid liked the grant application idea, saying the situation would be different if there were just a few things wrong with the building.

"It's pretty much a write-off," she said.

With a March 1 intake for the next round of Trillium grants, councillors agreed they would make an application for a full-scale renovation of the hall.

Recipients of the grant program will be announced in June of 2014.

AH gets letter of intent from MNR

Staff reporter

A long-awaited development in the relocation of the local MNR fire response base from Haliburton Village to the Stanhope Airport has happened after Algonquin Highlands township finally received an official letter of intent from the province.

It was first announced in January of 2011 that the Ministry of Natural Resources was eyeing the airport as a new location and this past summer, the MNR officially announced it would construct a $12-million base at the airport with a media event at the site.

However, for a year and half, the township has been waiting for the official word in writing, a letter of intent from the min-

"We have the LOI and a contract," Reeve Carol Moffatt said at an Oct. 17 council meeting, explaining the documents were in the hands of the township's solicitors and that reviews by Algonquin Highlands's chief administrative officer and engineering consultant would take place.

Once the contract is signed, the township will release a request for proposals for tree-clearing on the site.

Algonquin Highlands will be removing six hectares of trees from the property to make way for the project.

The contract is also subject to scope change in Building Canada Fund money the township was approved for under the previous council for the now-cancelled crosswind runway project.

Algonquin Highlands was approved for two-thirds provincial and federal funding of up to $3.6 million for that project.

The costs for the MNR project are anticipated at $3.2 million, with federal and pro-

Algonquin Highlands township is applying to the province's Municipal Infrastructure Investment Initiative for the replacement of a large culvert on North Shore Road.

"Upon completion of our bridge needs study in 2012 it was identified that the large culvert on North Shore Road just east of Dawson Road was starting to fail," chief administrative officer Angie Bird wrote in a report that was received by councillors at their Oct. 23 meeting.

"The engineer estimated an approximate cost of between $120,000 and $130,000 to replace the structure which included engineering costs."

The township applied unsuccessfully in 2012 under the Municipal Infrastructure Investment Capital Program.

Municipalities with higher debt loads are often given priority under infrastructure programs.

The township is in the process of completing an asset management plan, which is scheduled to be completed by the end of

Project to feature Group of Seven

Residents of Oxtongue Lake are working on a public display of Group of Seven artwork outside the Oxtongue Lake Community Cen-

Algonquin Highlands councillors heard from Chris Woods of Friends of Oxtongue Lake about the group's proposed storyboard project during their Oct. 24 meeting.

"Our goal is to have a permanent location there, but still be able to remove the storyboard and move it for fundraising," Woods told councillors.

The story would show some of the work of the Group of Seven, as well as contain information about the artists. Members of the group, particularly A.J. Cas-son, painted at Oxtongue Lake.

"We have located on Oxtongue Lake alone, six definite sites," Woods said.

The storyboard would use a series of posts to house removable panels.

Woods said his group must attain the rights to the paintings for the project, or else use renditions of the paintings.

So far, they have acquired the rights to one of the works, for which they paid $500.

"It's a fabulous project," said Reeve Carol Moffatt, adding that it meshes perfectly with the township's cultural plan and could lay the groundwork for an art trail in the area.

There is already a mural of one of Casson's works on the side of the Oxtongue Community Centre and the storyboard would also provide information on the mural.

Councillors supported the project in prin-

Outdoor mall planned for Hwy 35

Anyone driving on Highway 35 recently may have noticed a sign for a new commercial development in Minden.

A Toronto development company is hoping to construct an open-air retail facility just north of Dollo's Foodland.

"I'm working with Dollo's as the development lead on that," said New Urban Retail president Jamie Chisholm, explaining the Dollo family would continue to own the property.

The facility Chisholm would like to build would include 30,000 square feet of retail space.

"Everybody will have their own storefront,"

Chisholm said.

As of Monday, he was in the process of finalizing two agreements that would take up a combined 15,000 square feet of space at the facility

Ideally, Chisholm would like to have all 30,000 square feet spoken for before approaching Minden Hills township for site plan approval.

He's hoping construction could begin in Chisholm is a Lake of Bays cottager who's been involved with other projects in the area, including the new Tim Hortons being built on County Road 21 outside Haliburton Village.

"It's an area I believe in," he said.

EOWC investigating better cell service coverage

Chad Ingram

Staff reporter

The Eastern Ontario Wardens' Caucus is investigating a project to improve cellular service throughout its region of the province.

At a meeting last week, members of the caucus voted to undertake a cell service gap analysis throughout its member municipalities

"Every day our members receive comments and questions about the lack of cell coverage," EOWC chairman Rick Phillips said in a press release. "Our residents are telling us that with the ongoing success of the EORN [Eastern Ontario Regional Network] project we need to take the challenge of making access to affordable cell services a reality across the region."

That project, a $250-million endeavour which is continuing, is aiming to bring high-speed, broadband Internet to 95 per cent of the region.

The EOWC represents 103 of the province's

444 municipalities.

The Internet project was a co-operative effort between the EOWC, the provincial and federal governments and Bell Aliant and was touted by Haliburton Kawartha Lakes-Brock MP Barry Devolin at the recent annual general meeting of the Haliburton County Development Corporation.

"I think we can almost go road by road in the area that are left [to be serviced]," Devolin said, adding that a similar template should be used for the expansion of cell service.

The EOWC has commissioned EORN to perform the cellular gap analysis, which is intended to determine if a project using a similar setup would be possible for the expansion of cellphone coverage.

"A lot of people are choosing cell service over land lines and better cell coverage is expected these days," Haliburton County Warden Carol Moffatt said in a press release, adding that expanded cell service is critical for economic development in the municipality.

It is unclear how long the gap analysis might take.

Minden runner dominates meet

Darren Lum

Focus and determination kept a local Minden runner from letting anything get in his way.

Shawn Walker made it clear he is the best intermediate cross-country runner with a victory at the Trillium Lakelands District School Board county cross country meet in Lindsay on Oct. 3.

Walker, who is more accustomed to the track, dug deep to find that extra gear, out-distancing his closest competitors from Mariposa by seconds when he crossed the finish line to the 3.5 kilometre course.

He admits this distance is a little longer than his preferred distance of 1,500 metres.

The perennial podium finisher for the Archie Stouffer Elementary School Wildcats said there really isn't a secret to this victory or his past successes.

The key, he said, is pain.

Knowing to push past it and to never give up.

Cross-country is a great way to prepare for the hockey season, the peewee A defenceman for the Highland Storm said.

No easy answer

Chad Ingram

Reporter

THERE IS NO EASY ANSWER when it comes to the Gelert hall. Earlier this month, Minden Hills councillors discussed what to do with the aging building, which has been closed to the public for a year and half due to issues with mould and bat guano.

There are other problems too, including a boil-water advisory.

According to a staff report, a full-scale renovation including new septic and electrical systems would cost about $115,000, just the remediation of the mould and the removal of the bat guano about $45,000, and demolition of the building about $28,000.

There are numerous considerations to make, ones that pit history and nostalgia against economic logic.

To help make some decisions, the township issued a survey on the subject, which was filled out by 96 people.

Understandably, a vast majority of respondents indicated they'd like to see the building saved in its present form, or replaced if it is demolished.

Now, nearly 100 responses for a community that is on a website for ghost towns of Ontario may seem pretty impressive.

However, if taken in the larger context of Minden Hills, with an approximate population of 5,500, it becomes a very small percentage.

Does it make sense for Minden Hills to spend a bunch of money on a facility used occasionally by a small fraction of the population?

No, and it doesn't.

Outside of a few thousands dollars from the township here and there, the hall at Gelert, along with the ones in Lochlin and Irondale, is maintained with volunteer fundraising and man-hours.

The argument could be made the almost non-existent level of regular funding for the municipally-owned building validates, perhaps demands, that Minden > Hills spend money to make the repairs and maintain a civic space in the hamlet.

> Some people in the communities of the former Snowdon township already feel overshadowed in the amalgamated township of Minden Hills.

However, if the township spends tens of thousands of dollars on the Gelert hall, it also sets a precedent for the community centres in Loch-lin and Irondale, also used by just a sliver of the population.

And, unlike Oxtongue Lake, which is far removed from the rest of the township of Algonquin Highlands, Gelertians have the Minden Hills Community Centre or the hall at Lochlin just a short drive away.

It's a complicated issue, one that has been wrestled with by previous Minden Hills councils.

Councillors have decided to apply for grant money for the work and see what happens and that was a good decision.

However, if the response comes back negative, it might be time for council to make an unpleasant decision and create another ghost in the fabled Gelert.

Fine unfair

To the Editor,

Why did it take three years for Darlene and Dave Pettes to be fined $3,500? Court heard the case on Dec. 15, 2010 and Justice of the Peace Karen Walker sentenced them in Lindsay on Sept. 26, 2013.

This is a hardworking Minden couple, great neighbours who would help anyone if they needed it.

In the eyes of the fish and wildlife people, they made a mistake. One mistake? In the meantime in our Minden area we have thieves stealing boats, Skidoos, ATVs, etc. We have drunk drivers, marijuana crop growers, drug dealers and on and on!

Why did it take this judge three years to make up her mind?

How many times in three years did this couple drive to court in Minden, and then Lindsay?

Alas, it was always postponed and they were in limbo again.

This is not fair!

Herbicide? You decide

To the Editor.

Do you know anyone with cancer? What about autism? It's likely you do, because unfortunately, the rates for both are rising. Why? Experts point to the many dangerous man-made chemicals trespassing in our human habitat.

Here's a glaring example: last week I received a letter from the Hydro One forestry maintenance department. Maybe you did too; it applies to many areas in Minden Hills.

Starting early in 2014, Hydro plans to clear brush located on their right-of-way by manual or mechanical means. I have no problem with that.

But then Hydro plans to treat the cut stumps with the toxic chemicals Garlon RTU and Garlon XRT. That's scary stuff!

The product label itself states that it's "toxic to aquatic organisms and birds, and that the use of which may result in the contamination of groundwater." Let's have some of that, I say, those noisy loons were getting on my nerves

The Messiah complex

ECENTLY, a Tennessee judge ordered parents who named their child Messiah, to change his name to Martin.

This bothers me on two levels. First, I think that parents should be able to name their child anything they want (so long as it is not abusive or detrimental to their development).

And second, to Martin? Really? Talk about a let down.

It seems to me that the boy's parents were proud of him. And I suspect, with a name like Messiah, this was probably their first child. And, who knows. Maybe there is a pretty good back story about miraculous conception - perhaps it happened in the back of a Smart Car.

Or just maybe - and I have to think this - they were trying to make the kid's future a little easier.

They probably envisioned a day when the kid walked into a tough situation and offered to solve it. Then, invariably, some smart-aleck would ask, "Who do you think you are the Messiah?"

To which the kid could have honestly answered yes.

Believe me, there are no such benefits associated with the name Martin. I know this because my brother is named Martin. I have had years of experience around Martins.

The only socially redeeming Beyond 35 thing about that name is when the owner blows up a dozen or so balloons at a child's birthday party. Then, someone can point out the purple Martin. But, unless the guy is choking on cake, that's short-lived.

Don't get me wrong, Martin is a nice name. But it just doesn't have the star quality inherent in the name Messiah.

I say if you are going to make parents change their child's name from Messiah, you better offer up something better than Martin.

You need a name that substitutes equally, has royal bearing and makes people wish that this was their name. Steve is a good example of such a name.

If you don't believe me, ask anyone named Steve. I won't linger on the idea, other than to repeat what I learned growing up with my brother - that being Steve is a far better name than Martin and therefore an indicator that mom loved me best. Nah! Nah! Na, nah, na,

I know there are people named Martin out there who might not agree but I think the facts speak for themselves. Even in comedic names that have both monikers, Steve comes first.

It's a scientific fact.

Having said that, there are approximately 700 children named Messiah in the U.S. already. That too is a fact.

The truth is, however, Messiah is not that good of a name. You see, I was always taught that when choosing a name for a pet or child, you should always consider what people will shorten

That's why I'd suggest to future first time parents considering the name to instead call your child Steve. That way you'll avoid having one little Mess.

NCE UPON A TIME there were exuberant parties across the road from Sapsucker Ridge, exuberant being a polite word for wild.

The Brown Dog Jiggs and I were never sure exactly what was going on, but we figured that grandchildren of the owner came up for the weekend and brought along some friends.

Fellowship raises spirits as day fades into night and the volume of the amplifiers rises too until the celebrants have to raise their voices to make themselves heard.

The midnight air is filled with whoops as well as hollers. A chainsaw revs up to make more fuel for the huge bonfire that lights up the night, perhaps 600 feet away from my back stoop.

Sometimes whoops and hollers turned into excessive shouting and yelling which, along with the amplified sound, might be illegal under the new noise bylaw passed by the Township of

At times, The Brown Dog comes outside with me to listen to the goings-on and grows so indignant that he stands there and barks excessively into the night, which also might be illegal now.

It might even have been illegal then, though I never even considered looking into it. If I could have my solitude for 50 weekends a year, shouldn't my neighbours be able to party hearty on the other two weekends?

Besides, what's the use of being young if you can't be rowdy once in a while? Shouldn't there be a place where you don't have to turn down the volume?

This summer's nights were quiet, but The Brown Dog and I wanted to understand our options under the new bylaw, so we hired a consultant. His fee was only $565 a day.

The three of us sit around a table, the consultant and I on chairs, The Brown Dog on the floor. Well, Jiggs isn't so much sitting as curled up, sleeping. There is talk of focus groups and helicopter surveillance until I tell the advisor I can afford only an hour of his time.

With that, he plants his elbows on the table, props chin on folded hands, eyes closed and gives the whole question $70.65 worth of thought. Then he opens his eyes and looks right at me. After a long silence that would please the drafters of the new bylaw, he says:

"Why don't you close your windows?" The new bylaw is really about firecrackers and all the rest about excessive > and unwanted noise looks like fancy trim, perhaps most useful as a tool in neighbourhood feuds.

> It takes a personal signature on a noise complaint form to start the process. What rational person would put his name to a complaint against his neighbour? It seems like a slim chance.

Times reporter Chad Ingram tells me that council has said it won't be sending anybody out to witness a ruckus. How would a case go, if it ever went to trial? You be the judge.

Complainant: "You played your music too loud."

Defendant: "No, I didn't."

I have no history with firecrackers, so my opinion of them is of little value. Rarely enough do Jiggs and I step outside and hear a snap-crackle-pop coming drifting up from the lake, a mile or more away, or from the holiday display down at the fairgrounds, two miles in the other direction.

The Brown Dog looks up at me inquisitively, offering to bark an illegal bark of indignation. We stand listening for a while, looking up at the stars. When we have had our fill, we go back indoors.

My neighbourhood is full of noises, natural and man-made. They are reminders that there is a world outside my head. Who will arrest the woodpecker who greets dawn with a drum solo on the siding beneath my bedroom

When I will be arrested for the "banging, clanking" noise my empty Bush Buggy makes when I haul it into the woods, for banging and clanking are expressly forbidden?

Common sense will prevail, or so we are promised. The bylaw forbids "any unnecessary noise or unnecessary sounds which disturbs the quiet, peace, rest, enjoyment, comfort or convenience of any person."

Huh? You sit on your dock to listen to the loons and The Big Bang Theory drifts out the open the window next door and drowns out their yodels. Was the TV necessary? Did it disturb your comfort?

"You could run both," Newhook said, but added she thought this would cause public confusion and require additional administrative time.

It was Newhook's recommendation the township stick with mail-in ballots.

"The whole mail-in system has been fairly new," said Deputy-reeve Liz Danielsen, adding she thought residents were still adjusting to that change and that it was too early to make another.

The deputy-reeve also suggested that the township look at the expense of a tabulator machine, which could help alleviate pressures on staff time.

Reeve Carol Moffatt said a tabulator could be considered during upcoming budget discussions but questioned whether one was necessary, given the small township had a 35 per cent voter turnout in the last election.

"Ballot counting is not particularly onerous," Moffatt said. "There's just not that many ballots."

The reeve was more concerned about convenience for voters and noted that even with the ongoing Eastern Ontario Regional Network project, there were still pockets of Algonquin Highlands without high-speed Internet.

Moffatt also noted that the clerk was the person responsible for running the election and it was her recommendation to use mail.

Highlands East and Dysart et al councils recently voted to continue the use of mail-in ballots for their townships' 2014 elections.

In Minden Hills, CAO Nancy Wright-Laking has recommended the township adopt Internet and telephone voting.

Wright-Laking introduced Internet voting in Peterborough when she was clerk for the city in 2006.

Councillors have deferred a vote on the matter until later this month and during the last discussion, there was some contemplation of a system that would combine mail-in ballots with telephone and Internet

Elements factor in Red Hawks victory at Kawartha final

Darren Lum

Staff reporter

It was all about the weather this year in the Kawartha Cham-

A frigid wind, combined with a steady all-day shower was the talk of the sidelines, as fans and players shivered, shook and did what they could to stay dry and warm at the Gary G. Brohman Athletic Field in Haliburton on Monday, Oct. 21.

It slowed, but could do little to stop the winning momentum of the Red Hawks varsity A field hockey team, which entered the playoffs undefeated through the regular season.

Their cheers could be heard in town when the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School team hoisted the Kawartha Championship trophy during the team photo on the pitch, a virtual mud bog after defeating the Crestwood Secondary School Mustangs (3-1) in penalty flicks – best of five shots after 60 minutes of regulation and a 10-minute overtime.

Coach Caley Sisson said both teams did their best, but the conditions were challenging and frustrating.

"It could have gone either way. Crestwood or us could have had a goal. How do you go a whole 70 minutes with no goals?" she said. "I thought [my players] played well and played hard. I appreciate them."

After a bye of the first round, the Red Hawks beat Thomas A. Stewart Secondary School 3-1 (goals from Shae MacNaull, [two] and Connor Marsden) in the semi-final to earn the berth to the final. The Mustangs entered the final with a dominating win over the Holy Cross Catholic Secondary School Hurricanes 4-0 in their semi-final.

The adverse conditions caused shots, clearing attempts and passes to slow considerably when driven through the middle. Neither team could sustain much of an offensive flow.

After 70 minutes, including a 10-minute overtime, the game was knotted at 0-0. Much of the play was mired in the mud and the wet grass. However, despite the state of the pitch both teams had several scoring chances

In the final minutes, Red Hawks netminder Sydney Cameron kept the game tied with a full out dive stick save. It was so quick few saw the play from the sidelines.

Eventually the game went to five penalty-flicks per team. The Red Hawks scored on their first attempt taken by Marsden, a momentum builder. Her successful shot was followed by successful flicks from Tanisha Gordon and Erin Lit-

The lone flick came from Mustangs player Jessica Carthy, who thwarted many Red Hawks rushes and threatened to score several times in regulation and overtime. The loss gave the Peterborough team the second seed for this week's Central Ontario Secondary School Athletics championships in Bancroft where they will play host, the North Hastings High School Huskies, on Thursday.

Learn about bees Nov. 2

This week birthday wishes go to two neighbours of mine, both celebrating milestone birthdays you see on the front of birthday cards. Enough said about that. Family and friends got together Saturday night to treat Albert Carpenter to a big birthday celebration at the Mill Pond Restaurant here in Carnarvon. All of us who know Albert will know him as a man of many jokes - he is always ready to turn something into a funny story. Chances are that the birthday cake was made by his wife Judy who has a real flair for decorating to any theme. This was another one of those times in my life that things have fallen on the same day and I wasn't able to attend this birthday party.

The other neighbour celebrating a birthday is Mike McKeon who is the co-owner of Upriver Trading Cafe on the main street of Minden. Mike is one of those guys who is always cheerful and a pleasure to be around. He was certainly surprised when his family and friends were all waiting for him at the Dominion Hotel. It was a wonderful evening with delicious food and fantastic music by Mark Christiano and Craig Titus - The Ya Babys.

I can't believe how fast time flies! It has been a couple of months since I started working at the cafe and definitely feel much better using the Ferrari of coffee machines! You might say that we are now friends and since they have moved the cafe indoors amongst the giftware, it's good that I am comfortable with that part of the business.

Mark your calendars for Saturday, Nov. 2 at 1 p.m. This is the afternoon that the informative presentation entitled You, Me and Bees will be happening at the Minden Community Centre. There will be guest speaker, Susan Chan, who is a pollination biologist and author of the book Landowner's Guide to Conserving Native Pollinators in Ontario. This is your opportunity to identify the native bees of Ontario and learn their interesting habits. This is also where you can learn how to encourage and protect native bees. Like them or hate them, we need them!

Have a great week!

Girls take on Eagles

On Friday night, the Minden Car Quest Midget B Highland Storm girls' hockey team hosted the Ennismore Eagles. Both teams were defending undefeated records and knew the battle would be a hazard contest. The Eagles came out flying and generated numerous scoring chances throughout the game frustrating the Highland Storm. Late in the first period the puck squeaked in from a difficult angle finding its way between the post, skates and stick? The Storm never gave up and tried to notch the score at one but were unable to capitalize. A scoreless second period kept the Storm girls in the game. The fine skating and deep talents of the three lines from Ennismore had the Storm's two lines running out of gas. The Eagles scored late in the third to add to their lead and final score of 2-0. Good effort, ladies. The Midget girls take to the ice again, Sunday, Oct. 27 at 6 p.m. in Minden, hosting Durham West. Recharge the legs again, girls, as we take on the Lightning Sunday night.

Atom A team hosts Duchene tournament

The Peppermill Highland Storm Atom A team hosted their annual home tournament, The Matt Duchene Fall Classic, on Oct. 19 and 20.

On Saturday at 10 a.m. the Atom boys played Newcastle Stars and won with the final score of 7-0. At the 2 p.m. game against the Hespeler Shamrocks our boys were once again the winners with a score of 9-1. The final game played on Saturday at 6 p.m. was against the Port Perry Predators. They gave a good fight but lost 3-0. At the end of Saturday we had 10.5 points which allowed us to advance to Sunday for the playoffs.

Our semi-final game Sunday at 11 a.m. against the Centre Hastings Grizzlies was action packed resulting in overtime. But the Peppermill Highland Storm Atom boys scored the winning goal after only 14 seconds of overtime. Final score 5-4. Our boys advanced to the finals once again against the Port Perry Predators. The championship game at 2 p.m. was a hard fight and all of our boys played well, however, in the end the Predators won with a final score of 7-1.

We would like to thank all the teams who came to our tournament it was a great weekend of hockey. Special thank you to Tom Prentice and Sons Trucking, Merrell Barry Company Ltd and Blair Haulage for generously donating prizes.

Peewee A Storm

On Saturday the Storm's Dollo's Foodland Peewee A team fought to a scoreless draw in their first game against Newcastle. Game 2 against the Peterborough Petes was a 2-1 win with goals by Lucas Haedicke and Miki Bukta. Game 3 against Oro was also a 2-1 win. Owen Gilbert opened the scoring in the first period and the second period did not see either team score. Oro finally put up the tension with a tying goal in the third period. With only four and a half minutes left in the game and Storm fending off an Oro power-play Ryan Hall put in a long-range power shot to propel the team to the semi-final game Sunday morning.

Highland Storm faced the Lindsay Muskies in the semi-finals. Storm was leading 2-1 by the end of the first period with goals by Nik Dollo and Ben McNaull. Despite huge pressure by the Storm team they just could not find the net in the second period. Lindsay came back with four unanswered goals to defeat Highland Storm 5-2 and went on to win the tournament with an overtime 2-1 win against Centre Hastings in the final.

Thanks go out to Independent and Foodland for providing kitchen supplies. Thanks to the efforts of team manager Fraenzi Morissette all the parents that helped to run the raffle table and run the kitchen at the Minden arena. Thanks also to the coach Jason Morissette, assistant coach Darnell Gilbert and trainers Ashley Walker and Travis Walker that prepared our players for their fine effort.

Poppy campaign gearing up

Legion br. 636

There are just a few time-slots left for Nov. 1, which is the first day of the Poppy Campaign, and the same for the following day or two, so members are encouraged to claim their one-hour duty soon. Some locations are indoors and those who are not able to stand with a poppy box can bring a stool.

People often ask how much the lapel poppies cost, however it is by donation only and proceeds go primarily to support needy veterans. Members can also fulfill their poppy obligation by counting donations, refilling boxes, or a number of other ways as required by the poppy chairwoman Georgina Parkes.

There is still time to enter the one-by-one membership renewal contest, which ends Nov. 15. Members receive a ballot for some great monthly prizes and the grand prize of a balcony cabin on a fabulous Caribbean cruise for two. On Jan. 30 to Feb. 10, 2014 the cruise sails from Ft. Lauderdale to the tropical ports of St. Thomas, St. Kitts, Barbados, Dominica and St. Maarten.

Share your pride in the Legion by signing up a new member and one-by-one we will all make a difference for Remembrance, for our communities and for our veterans. Imagine if each of us brought in just one new member ... we'd double our ranks! That would see the Legion ranks grow like never before. Imagine how much stronger the Legion could be with thousands of new members upholding the traditions of remembrance.

If you were one of those who read last week's column word-for-word, you might have been scratching your head about the reference to Minden seniors' "B-d Euchre" at 1 p.m. on Tuesdays. A typo meant you were still seeing BID Euchre, which the AGCO won't let us say without purchasing a gambling licence. Don't worry; that game is still played the same, except the name has been changed to B-d Euchre to protect your right to play it!

Due to popular request, ways and means chairman Sonny Lauchlan has just announced the latest band. Reserve your calendar on Saturday, Nov. 23 for some great entertainment at the Legion with Highlands Trio from 1 to 5 p.m. The evening is open to the public, so get your friends together and set the date for some good toe-tapping, hand-clapping music!

Here at the old farmhouse last week's mail brought a thoughtful package for Bruce from a gentleman in Saco, Montana. Terry had contacted him earlier regarding an antique "horse power" he had purchased built by J. Fleurys Sons, Aurora, Ontario of whom Bruce is a fifth generation descendant. The parcel's contents included a newspaper, photos and video of a restored cross-cut saw dating back to the 1850s. The saw was being demonstrated at Saco Fun Days on Aug. 31 and rather than the earlier use of a model T engine to operate it for the first time the saw was being powered by a team of patient horses. Tucked inside the Phillips County News a weekly published in Malta, Montana that featured front page photos and an article on the vintage saw, was the separate Frontier Trader insert. Filled with community items including school lunch menus, bus schedules and, of particular personal interest to me, the Loring News column the Trader was a delightful read. Shorter than mine and much more folksy, the Loring column featured local

Residents request road closure

Chad Ingram

Staff reporter

Residents of Oxtongue Lake are requesting that the north entrance of Oxtongue Lake Road be closed to vehicular traffic at its intersection with Highway 60.

Scott Hayden made a delegation to Algonquin Highlands councillors at their Oct. 17 meeting with the request.

Hayden said the intersection has become unsafe with blocked sight lines.

"School buses will not stop at this intersection anymore," Hayden said. "I've had overwhelming response from everybody on the road."

He'd gone around the neighbourhood with a petition.

All but three property owners who he's not been able to make contact with have signed the petition in support, including the owners of five commercially zoned properties on the road.

Hayden, who is a resort owner, said there is another entrance to the area 700 metres away, so there are no major issues with access.

"We can't just put up barriers and leave it," said Reeve Carol Moffatt, adding there would need to be investigation by staff members including public works director Mike Thomas and fire chief John Hogg.

Hayden said he thought it was a logical time to proceed with the closure as there is highway construction taking place in the area.

Residents urged to check freezers and fridges for contaminated beef burgers

In the wake of an expanded recall of beef burger products, the local health unit is encouraging residents to check their fridges and freezers and remove any of the affected products.

The Canadian Food Inspection Agency announced a recall of beef burger products produced by Belmont Meats as they may be contaminated with E. coli. These products include certain Compliments brand Super 8 Beef Burgers, President's Choice Beef Burgers and Webers Bucket of Burgers.

As of today, there are seven confirmed and one suspect case of E. Coli reported in Ontario that have been linked to the ongoing investigation of the recalled beef burgers. There have been no cases reported in the health unit's area.

"We know the affected product has been recalled and is no longer for sale in stores, but we are concerned that some residents may have purchased the burgers prior to the recall and have them stored in their freezer for use at a later time," says Richard Ovcharovich, manager, environmental health for the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit. "We are asking people to check their fridges and freezers, and if they do find the recalled product to either throw it out or take it back to the store where they purchased the burgers."

E. coli are bacteria that are commonly found in the intestines of human and animals, some of which may cause serious illness. Symptoms of E. coli infection include stomach cramps, diarrhea (possibly bloody), fever (infrequent), nausea and vomiting. Anyone with persistent systems should see their health care provider immediately.

E. coli and other food borne infections can be prevented by following four easy steps:

1. Clean: wash hands before and after handling raw foods and surfaces often.

2. Cook: cook ground meat products to an internal temperature of 71 $^{\circ}\text{C}$ (160 $^{\circ}\text{F}$).

3. Chill: cool cooked foods rapidly when storing leftovers.

4. Separate: avoid cross contamination of surfaces with raw products.

For food safety tips and a full list of recalled products, residents are encouraged to visit the Health Unit's website at www.hkpr.on.ca or the Canadian Food Inspection Agency website at www.inspection.gc.ca. Residents can also contact the HKPR District Health Unit toll-free at 1-866-888-4577.
